

Getting into / out of train:

The floorings of the train coach and the platform are designed to be almost the same level, the gap between the coach and the platform are also so narrow that one can comfortably push BaBaGadi with the baby inside from the train to the platform or from the platform in to the train.

Reserved Seats in trains for the old, the disabled, etc.

Japanese Railways and the society care a lot for the needy. Seats are reserved for the old and invalids, pregnant ladies, patients with limbs in plaster, etc. Indicating sketches on the glass windows of train send the message.

Another message tells passengers to switch off their cell phones, near these seats, so that they do not disturb pace makers of heart patients if any present in that area.

Different Cos' travels are show in different colors. Trains of different companies are easily recognized by their colors at junction stations.
